Scrooge writes his first Christmas Card

Imagine you are Scrooge and have just been visited by the three spirits. The visits have made you realise that you need to mend your ways. You decide to write a Christmas Card apologising for one of your faults, and promising to make amends in some way.

◆ YOUR APOLOGY

Choose who you want to send the card to. This might be Bob Cratchit, your nephew Fred, or another character in the book.

Using your notes, decide which particular bad deed you want to apologise for. For example, if you are writing to Bob Cratchit, you might apologise for not paying enough wages.

◆ YOUR PROMISE

Once you have written your apology, you need to promise to make amends for this bad deed. If you are apologising to Bob for example, you might promise him more wages.

◆ YOUR CHRISTMAS CARD

Now make your Christmas card. Remember to include the illustration on the front, a printed message (for example ‘Merry Christmas’), and your personal message (write this neatly on the left hand side of the inside of the card).
