Name the story!

1. ‘… in a sudden access of troubled spite, shut the bird into a small box and fastened the bolt.’
2. ‘… the launch was still traveling over to him, unstoppable, unsinkable, along that invisible line.’
3. ‘Ten years later there was nothing of the mill left except the broken white limestone of its foundations showing through the swampy second growth …’
4. ‘She’s growing up – and so am I.’
5. ‘We forgot we were three generations.’
6. ‘I thought I would throw the acid in Ralph’s face at breakfast.’
7. ‘… “Miss Webster is going to show us the snowdrops today,” he said.’
8. ‘Miss Webster continued to cry aloud in the midst of the frightened children.’
9. ‘Edmund Jenkins waved at him and that was funny …’
10. ‘The garden belonged to the children.’
11. ‘The Quicks’ garden was a wilderness.’
12. ‘Laces like strings of white liquorice. They taste sweet.’
13. ‘Now I realise how you kept yourself from me, how I didn’t know you at all.’
14. ‘That was the year the war began and the real world, and the difference.’
15. ‘The garden was all a fluster and a flurry of returning birds.’
16. ‘I was not the only worshipper of Superman in our block.’
17. ‘Above the old man’s head was the dovecote, a tall wire-netted shelf on stilts.’
18. ‘Paula’s snowsuit was smeared wet and black with oil along the side.’
19. ‘The silver airplanes and the blue capes all dissolved and vanished, wiped away like the crude drawings of a child …’
20. ‘I can’t send you a letter, either, because I don’t know your address.’
