

EYFS, KS1

A flying start to phonics

TEACHING
PACK

- a knowledge organiser, the perfect reference tool
- four eye-catching phoneme spotters
- over 70 sets of differentiated handwriting resources for each of the 44 phonemes and their corresponding graphemes

Phase 2

s

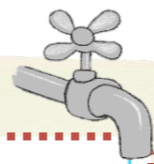

sun

a

ant

t

tap

p

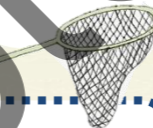

pig

i

ink

ne

net

m

milk

d

dog

g

goat

o

octopus

c

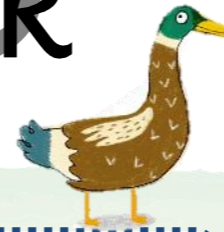

cat

k

key

ck

duck

e

egg

u

umbrella

r

rocket

h

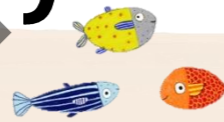

hand

b

bed

f

fish

ff

puffin

l

leg

ll

bell

s

grass

Prize prawns for Claude

Orla poured some sauce onto her prawn and lettuce sandwiches. It was time for the football tournament! “Come on Claude!”, Orla called to her small dog. “You can guard my prawn sandwiches!”

Orla was busy scoring goals and didn't pause to eat. Claude lay on the floor keeping a close guard. A jackdaw flew down and spotted the prawns. Claude raised a paw and the jackdaw flew away.

The match ended and Orla walked back to Claude. He ran to her and as he did something crawled onto the sandwiches.

When they got home Orla sat down, exhausted. Orla put the sandwiches on the plate and Claude sat staring at them adoringly.

Suddenly he noticed four large holes in the lettuce and some extraordinarily hairy legs under the bread! Just as Orla was about to put a fork in, Claude let out an enormous bark! Orla jumped and they both gawped as the most ginormous caterpillar fell to the floor!

Orla put the caterpillar outdoors and tore off some lettuce for it. “I'm glad you saw that naughty thing Claude!” said Orla and as a reward, she gave Claude the whole sandwich!

“I better make some more!” she laughed as Claude licked the saucer clean.

Prize prawns for Claude

Orla had just poured some sauce onto her magnificently tasty prawn and lettuce sandwiches when the doorbell rang. It was time for the football tournament! Orla's four friends, Cory, George, Aura and Aubrey stood waiting for her outdoors. "Come on Claude!", Orla called to her small dog "come and support me and guard my magnificent prawn sandwiches!" Claude liked nothing more than to watch the ball (as well as eating the most magnificent prawn sandwiches.)

Orla didn't pause to eat her sandwiches. She was too busy scoring goals but it was awfully hard for poor Claude to ignore them. Wisely Claude pushed them away, across the floor, far from his nose, using a single paw. Soon a jackdaw flew down and spotted the prawns; Claude's paw pushed the sandwiches away again. Next, a moorhen wanted a morsel. Claude caught him just before he took a peck.

Claude had to watch the sandwiches like a hawk! It was quite daunting keeping Orla's sandwiches safe, but at last the match was over. It was getting dark as they were leaving, so Claude didn't see something hairy crawl onto the sandwiches.

Orla switched on the torch to walk home with Claude.

"I'm so hungry Claude," she said as she sat down exhausted, back at home. Claude sat staring at the prawn sandwiches adoringly whilst Orla put them on the plate.

Suddenly he noticed four large holes in the lettuce...and then he saw some extraordinarily hairy legs moving under the bread! Just as Orla was about to put a fork in, Claude let out an enormous bark! It was such a surprise that Orla jumped and they both gawped as they saw the sandwich and the most ginormous caterpillar fall to the floor!

“Well, I’m glad you saw that naughty thing! You’re always extraordinarily good at guarding my prawn sandwiches Claude!” said Orla. Then she put the caterpillar outdoors and tore off a piece of lettuce for it. Next, as a reward, she gave Claude the whole sandwich!

“I better make some more!” she laughed as Claude licked the saucer clean.

Teachit sample

Prize prawns for Claude

Orla poured some sauce onto her prawn and lettuce sandwiches. It was time for the football tournament! “Come on Claude!”, Orla called to her small dog. “You can guard my prawn sandwiches!”

Orla was busy scoring goals and didn’t pause to eat. Claude lay on the floor keeping a close guard. A jackdaw flew down and spotted the prawns. Claude raised a paw and the jackdaw flew away.

The match ended and Orla walked back to Claude. He ran to her and as he did something crawled onto the sandwiches. When they got home Orla sat down, exhausted. Orla put the sandwiches on the plate and Claude sat staring at them adoringly.

Suddenly he noticed four large holes in the lettuce and some extraordinarily hairy legs under the bread! Just as Orla was about to put a fork in, Claude let out an enormous bark! Orla jumped and they both gawped as the most ginormous caterpillar fell to the floor!

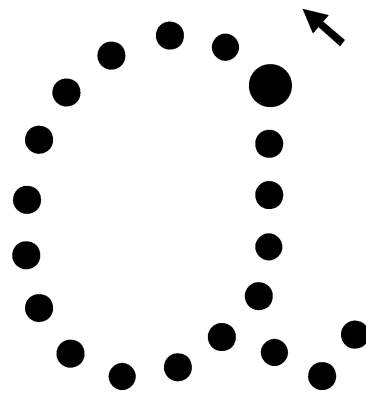

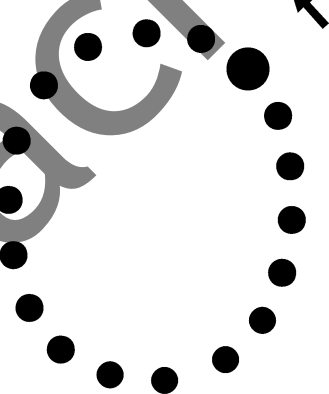

Orla put the caterpillar outdoors and tore off some lettuce for it. “I’m glad you saw that naughty thing Claude!” said Orla and as a reward, she gave Claude the whole sandwich!

“I better make some more!” she laughed as Claude licked the saucer clean.

Teachit sample

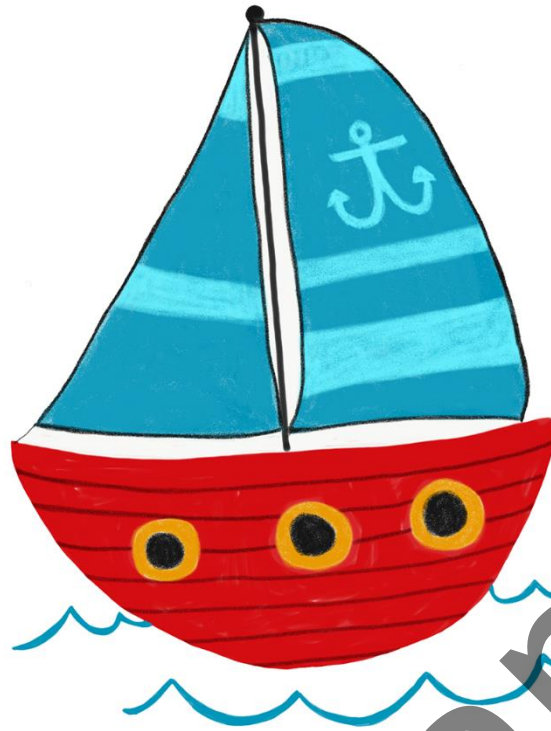

boat

boat

Teachit sample
boat
boat

boat

coast

goat

roast

soap

boast

foam

soak

soak

float

toad

croak

road

coach

toast

throat

A goat on a boat floats past the coast.

A goat on a boat floats past the coast.

A goat on a boat floats past the coast.

A goat on a boat floats past the coast.

A goat on a boat floats past the coast.

A goat on a boat floats past the coast.